NEWS from HOLLYWOOD

Rosalind Russell is exuberant in her praise of John Logan, who directed her in "Picnic." "He was just born for the movies," she declared.

Gale Storm was so good in "My Little Margie," that she is being beseiged with offers for night-club work. She has signed a record contract with Dot Records, a hot new company.

Esther Williams will make only three pictures at M-G-M in the next five years, under an adjustment of her present contract.

After seeing Jennifer Jones' performance in some of the rushes of "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing" Buddy Adler was so delighted that he immediately named her for the lead in "Good Morning, Miss Dove."

Mona Freeman is in England where she's costarring with Gene Nelson in "The Way Out." In this film, Gene will not sing or dance—just straight acting and something he's wanted to do for a long time.

When Metro re-makes "The Philadelphia Story," it's going to be a musical, set in Newport, Rhode Island and Cole Porter will write the tunes and John Patrick will rewrite the script. The cast is as yet unseelcted.

According to Willys De Mond, hosiery stylist, Mitzi Gaynor has the prettiest legs in all of Hollywood. "They're pretty night perfect," says De Mond, who has measured, fitted and examined the famous legs of Hollywood for the past 25 years.

June Allyson, who has finished her two-picture deal at Universal-International, has just signed another. The first picture under her new contract will be "Maracaibo," an adventure story with the oil industry as a background. Her co-star will be Rock Hudson.

George Sander's career is booming. He has just finished "Never Say Goodbye," and goes into "King of Hearts," with Bob Hope. After that, he will have the lead in "Shangri-La," a musical version of "Lost Horizon," on Broadway, George, who has a beautiful singing voice, will have the role played by Ronald Coleman in the film.

Simple Home Repairs

Nothing is simpler to fix than a squeaking door. Put a drop of sewing machine oil at the top of each hinge. Swing the door back and forth several times to work the oil into the hinge. Repeat until the squeak stops.

If you have a door that sticks, find the spot that sticks by slowly closing and opening the door. Pay special attention to just where the binding takes place. Hold a piece of sandpaper over the surface of the door frame in that spot, with the sand side down toward the edge of the door. Open and close the door several times over the sandpaper.

A common pet peeve is a drawer that sticks. VPI home management specialists suggest this remedy: Find out whether the sticking is at the top, bottom, or on the sides. Usually this place is smoother and shinier than the other surfaces. If it just sticks a bit, rub a piece of soap, paraffin, or heavy paste wax over the spot. You may have to sand the drawer a bit, but take special care if the sanding is in a place that might show.

Sometimes a rattle in a door can be stopped temporarily by a heavy rubber band. Stretch it around the two door knobs—or around the flat side of the latch and the knob on the opposite side of the door. More permanent repairs involve removing the latch strike plate.

ceremonies, introduced the guests to Mrs. Covington, at the head of the receiving line.

After the reception, the couple left for a northern wedding trip. For the trip, the bride wore a suit-dress of blue glazed cotton, navy accessories, and the white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. On their return, they will live in Washington, D. C., where the groom will be stationed at Headquarters of the USMC.

Mrs. Covington chose for her daughter's wedding a pink lace over taffeta dress with matching pink hat and white accessories. Mrs. Randall wore blue lace with matching hat and navy accessories. Both mothers wore white rose corsages at the shoulder. Mrs. Charles Jennings Ferguson, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a sheer voile with a white corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Westhampton College of the University of Richmond, and has been teaching in the city schools in Portsmouth. The bridegroom attended the University of Wisconsin and at present is commanding officer of the Marine detachment aboard the USS New Jersey.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Randall, of Washburn, Wisconsin Lt.-Commander and Mrs. Alfred Congdon, of Dahlgren, Va.; Lt. and Mrs. Richard Lang, of Ringtown, Pennsylvania; Lt. Local Band Plays For Garden Party

Members of the Appomattox Garden Club and their guests, attired in multi-colored summer dresses, and many wearing large harmonizing garden hats, attended the annual garden party Monday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock in the gardens at Longacre, the home of Mrs. Frank C. Dresser. The flowering shrubs and many varieties of blooming flowers made a picturesque background for the party.

Mrs. Charles T. Moses, Jr., president, recognized the visitors and later welcomed into the club the new members, including Mrs. Richard D. Robinson, Mrs. Shafter C. Drinkard, Miss Laura Motley, and Mrs. Leslie N. Ligon. Corsages were presented the new members, and to Mrs. Dresser and Mrs. Joyce Currorke, director of the Elementary School Band. The band provided entertainment for the afternoon.

Mrs. Moses presented the Garden Club officers, namely, Mrs. Kenneth C. Gregory, vice-president; Mrs. Walter E. Ferrell, secretary; Miss Flora Belle Williams, Junior Garden Club counsellor; and Mrs. Frank F. Carr, parliamentarian. Mrs. L. L. Stanley, treasurer, and Mrs. Herman Schweizer, chaplain, were not present.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Gregory, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Currorke, who in turn introduced each member of the band. The band is composed of the following girls and boys, between the ages of 7 and 11: Danny Herncall, Lina Trent, Patsy Guill, Jean Cole, Ann Cole, Susan Burke, Gerald Leffers, Howlette Hunter, Carlton Collins, Freddie Wingfield, Patsy Jamerson, Mary Catherine Mitchell, Becky Barger, Peggy Lewis and Joe LeGrand. Members of the band who were absent, were Donald Gurney, Hal Flood Jimmy Torrence, Blaine Carter, John Evans, Tom Evans, and Jimmy Burke.

Refreshments consisted of homemade ice cream and cake, served from a table on the lawn.
